SPONSOR INVITATION

iCOMOS is a global forum to (i) communicate the importance of science in solving pressing health issues at the interface of humans, animals and the environment; (ii) facilitate interdisciplinary, international collaborations embracing health, science and economics; and (iii) inform public policy development that is necessary for preserving human and animal health. Following on the success of iCOMOS 2014 and 2016, this conference is presented by the College of Veterinary Medicine, the Office of the Vice President for Research, and the Academic Health Center; University of Minnesota. Over 400 people from industry, academia, international associations, and government agencies from 25 countries are expected to attend.

iCOMOS-2018 will feature keynote speeches by Nobel Prize Winners Peter Agre and Peter Doherty; and World Food Prize Laureate Robert Mwangi. In addition, NIEHS Director Linda Birnbaum; WHO Director of Public Health Maria Neira; Eric Schwartz, President, Refugees International; Francisco Lopera, from Colombia, Jonna Mazet, UC Davis; Samuel Myers, Planetary Health Alliance; Space Shuttle Commander and Astronaut Pamela Melroy; and additional distinguished scientists from around the globe.

Your organization's financial support will help achieve the goals of this conference. Your financial contribution will be very much appreciated.
